

ILLINOIS, NORMAL 61790-4400. Illinois State University, Assistant Professor in Human-Environmental Geography. The Department of Geography-Geology at Illinois State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level. The preferred starting date is August 16, 2010. A PhD in Geography or a closely related field is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered. The department seeks a candidate with a strong potential for scholarly research, publication, and teaching in human-environmental geography with a preferred research emphasis in economic geography and focus in water, energy, or climate issues. The successful candidate is expected to seek extramural funding. A strong interest and expertise in conducting field-based research also is desired. The successful candidate will broaden the existing scope of faculty research. The potential for a significant startup package exists. Illinois State University is a research-intensive university with an annual enrollment of approximately 20,000 students. The university is located in the Bloomington-Normal metropolitan area of central Illinois with a population of approximately 150,000. The Department of Geography-Geology offers B.S./B.A. degrees in Geography, a B.S. degree in Geology, and a M.S. degree in Hydrogeology. Please send applications to Dr. Dagmar Budikova, Chair of the Human-Environmental Geography Search Committee, Department of Geography-Geology, Illinois State University, Normal, Illinois, 61790-4400, USA. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statements outlining current and future research interests and teaching philosophy, three letters of recommendation, and all college and university transcripts. Review of applications will begin on October 26, 2009, and will continue until the position is filled. No e-mail applications will be accepted. Inquiries about the application process should be directed to Dr. Dagmar Budikova (dbudiko@ilstu.edu, 309-438-7643). Additional information about the department and the community can be found at www.geo.ilstu.edu. Filling this position is contingent upon budgetary approval.

Illinois State University is an Affirmative Action University encouraging diversity.